

Health Impact Note Guided Template

What is a health impact note?

Health notes are brief impartial documents that provide context relating to the health and wellness impacts of legislation (Enlund, 2022). They can be utilized to support community focused policy and provide insight for decision-making practices around the conditions that impact wellness.

Why is the consideration of health and wellness important during the policy making/evaluation process?

Policy determines resources which influence or directly impact a community's wellness. Identifying potential health and wellness risks early in the policy development process can provide an opportunity for lawmakers, government agencies, community organizations, and individuals to promote positive health outcomes and mitigate negative consequences (National Research Council (US) Committee on Health Impact Assessment, 1970).

How can I use this template to benefit me?

This template was created to serve as a guide for reviewing and identifying potential health and wellness impacts within legislative policy. Section one of the template focuses on identification and breakdown of the policy. This can aid in fostering an understanding of its intent, as well as identifying potential leverage points for health considerations. Section two of the template focuses on the identification of wellness impacts of the policy. Within those leverage points, a system-thinking approach can be implemented to analyze how a given policy/program may impact the conditions in which people live, work, age, play, and worship (WHO). Section three of the template provides a space to identify positions that support or oppose the policy. By considering these factors, as well as the following questions throughout this guide, one should be able to:

- a) identify key components of a bill/program in question,
- b) identify the health impacts of said legislative policy,
- c) observe the arguments for and against, and
- d) highlight ways to improve the legislative policy to be more well-oriented, if necessary

An Appendix was created as a compliment to this health impact note template. That Appendix can be found or at the end of the extended version of the Health Impact Note Template on the NOMHE web page.

Community impacts of the legislative policy:

- How may the populations identified in this legislative policy be impacted in relation to their opportunities to achieve their highest levels of health and wellness, regardless of their social, economic, or geographic circumstances? Are there other populations that may be indirectly affected? (e.g. students, users of health insurance, healthcare providers)? Place your answer in the box below.

Within the Social Determinants of Health (SDoH) framework, how will the communities be impacted?
(Check all that apply- The Appendix of the Impact Note contains SDoH Definitions)

- ☐ Access to Education and Quality of Education
- ☐ Access to Health Care and Quality of Healthcare
- ☐ Neighborhood and Built Environment
- ☐ Economic Stability
- ☐ Social and Community Context

Based on what was selected above, what are 3 potential impacts that an individual in that community will face? Please explain your reasoning and relate your response back to a relevant area(s) of SDoH.

Guiding questions are listed in section 1 of the Appendix to aid in answering this question.

3.

Are there any economic impacts of this legislative policy?

- ☐ If Yes, please continue working through this section
- ☐ If No, please explain:

Section 2: Identification of Wellness Impacts of the Legislative policy

The intent of this section is to prompt thought about the indirect impacts of a legislative policy. This includes identifying areas for improvement or expansion, opportunities for community engagement, and routes in which the bill may improve Nevadan wellness.

Will this legislative policy directly impact access to health resources/services?

a) Increasing access (e.g. expanding health insurance coverage to more people, or more providers being made available)

b) Decreasing access (e.g. removing certain health services or providers)

c) If both: (please explain below)

d) If N/A: (please explain below)

How will this legislative policy impact access to health resources/services? Please explain both indirect and direct impacts.

Will this bill disproportionately impact one community over another?

☐ If Yes, please explain below:

☐ If No, please explain below:

Note: A disproportional impact can occur when a rule or policy that seems neutral, leads to a greater negative effect on one group of people (based on geographic location or some other characteristic) compared to others. One example could be a tax cut that primarily benefits wealthy individuals, which can widen the gap between rich and poor communities. Another example could be a zoning law relating to the placement of hazardous waste facilities or landfills near low-income communities, which can lead to an increased exposure to hazardous pollutants, and potentially negative health outcomes.

When will the health impacts come into effect?

- a) Immediately upon passage and approval
- b) Long-term (i.e. months or years later)

Is this legislative policy intending to improve Nevadan wellness in some way? Please explain and provide examples.

Will this legislative policy negatively impact health in some way? Please explain and provide examples.

Does this legislative policy address any of the Health in All Policies (HiAP) principles?
(Appendix Contain Definitions) Check all that apply:

- ☐ It promotes health and wellness
- ☐ It promotes sustainability
- ☐ It engages the community and government to work together for implementation
- ☐ It introduces a structural or procedural change to a policy or agency that impacts the social determinants of health (SDoH)
- ☐ No, it does not

*Based on your response above, how will the legislative policy address that/those HiAP principle(s)?
Or how will it not address any of those principles?*
