ABOUT THE EVENT

The Nevada Minority Health & Equity Coalition's fourth-annual Impact Summit will focus on identifying health disparities in our state and highlighting the important roles that our community must play in ensuring equity for all through action, research, and engagement. The Summit, which will be offered in-person and virtually, will be an open forum to share ideas, challenges, and lessons.

This year's Impact Summit will feature powerful keynote speakers and informative panels around three track sessions:

POLICY & ADVOCACY

The track will feature advocates and legislators, guiding participants through Nevada's legislative process and offering best practices for getting your voice heard, and the importance of advocacy and community action.

RESEARCH

The track will highlight public health professionals and the health disparities research that was conducted around COVID-19 as well as focusing on inequity in diverse populations.

CAPACITY BUILDING

Participants in this track will hear from experts and community-based organizations on cultural competency and best practices for engaging with diverse communities.
